JULY FOURTH CELEBRATION BIG SUCCESS

Thousands Throng Pettibone Park to Witness Water Sports and Athletic Events in the Afternoon

DISPLAY OF FIREWORKS CREATES BEAUTIFUL EFFECT

Venetian Night Regatta Called Off in Evening on Account of Storm

WITH the passing of the Fourth of July the initial attempt of the La Crosse Outdoor Sports association in staging an athletic and aquatic festival has gone down in history as a whirlwind success.

Crowds running into the thousands assembled at Pettibone park in the afternoon and evening for the athletic and aquatic entertainment which was participated in by a host of local people. Despite the rain in the early evening which made it impossible to stage the Venetian Night parade on Pettibone lagoon, thousands of people thronged the park across the river later to view the spectacular display of fireworks from the west bank of the lagoon.

Fired from the artistically arranged and illuminated Venetian Night landing place at the head of the lagoon, the fireworks yielded a double array of splendor through the reflection on the water. Thousands who viewed the display repeatedly applauded the scene as the pretty displays of fire were sent into the air. Although there was a slight delay in the order of firing the display, due to the fact that the apparatus was taken down during the storm, the entertainment was highly commended by the spectators.

Regatta Called Off

Unfortunately with the storm coming at the time of the event, the Venetian Night parade, which was to have been the feature of the evening's entertainment, was called off. It was believed that the lagoon would have accommodated hundreds who had planned to enter the event with their decorated craft. An idea of the beauty of the affair, had it been held, was suggested in the appearance of one beautifully decorated canoe occupied by four young people playing stealthily about the lagoon. The craft was artistically trimmed with colored electric lights with a canopy overhead.

The great interest was taken in the affair by citizens of the city was manifested by the fact that at one o'clock, an hour before the beginning of the official program of the afternoon, thousands of people had assembled across the river and were preparing to be entertained by water sports, athletic and novelty events. Many brought picnic suppers to remain in the park during the evening, but were unfortunately forced to abandon the park when the storm came at 7:30. However, many returned to Pettibone later in the evening to witness the pyrotechnical display.

Many Participate

The athletic and aquatic program attracted many young men and women and children into competition for the various prizes, and those who had failed to make a formal entry for the events, rushed in at the last minute to secure places among the contenders.

The athletic program in the morning afforded entertainment to a large number in the grand stands. The half mile and two mile bicycle races, both won by Dick Paulson on his racer, called forth shouts and screams from the stands at the finish. Paulson was easy victor in the half mile event and with a considerable handicap in the two mile race, passed the other four participants on the home stretch in the two mile race. Peary Heath finished second in the race.

Appearing with a fully organized team for the tug-of-war, the fire department walked off with the event, winning from a mixed team of cops and volunteers in two out of three pulls. The competition in the third pull aroused great enthusiasm and brought the crowded stands to their feet as the firemen rained the last inch over their opponents. Incidentally, the firemen offer a challenge to any team in the city for a pull on the rope.

Tennis Finals Played

The finals of the tennis tournament were staged at the normal courts in the morning. Jones defeating Ray in the singles, and Pieper and Pampin defeating Walters and Jones in the doubles. The fifty-yard dash for girls under 16 was won by Delphy Rubare, while the same event for

DISCUSS ADVISABILITY OF PROCLAMATION DECLARING STATE OF WAR AT AN END

WASHINGTON. — State department and other administration officers were examining war legislation degrees and war time agreements today with the object of determining the advisability of supplementing the proclamation of the congressional resolution ending the state of war with Germany and Austria which was signed Saturday by President Harding.

Secretary Hughes is expected to confer with President Harding after the return of the executive from Paris.

Without assuming to indicate what course the president might take, some officials believe that a proclamation is not essential, although as a safeguard and as a vehicle of policy it might be advisable.

Officials continued reluctant to discuss the direct effect of the resolution or the steps that would be taken towards a restoration of diplomatic relations with Germany. The withdrawal of the troops from the Rhine was pointed out as a question for the president to win.

It was pointed out, however, that congress clearly indicated in the peace resolution its intention to reserve to the United States all rights guaranteed either in the armistice agreement or in the treaty of Versailles.

BATTLE OVER GIRL IN CLIFFWOOD INN AIRED BEFORE COURT

Saturday Night Mix-up Results in Young Farmer Paying Fine for Assault

OTHER PARTICIPANT IN THE SCRAP PLEADS NOT GUILTY

A FIGHT over a girl was staged in Cliffwood Inn Saturday night. One of the participants received a blow over the left eye that necessitated taking several stitches to close it and the entire fracas was aired in county court Monday morning.

Richard Brown, 20 years old, employed on the Brown Brothers farm, town of Shelby, was charged with assaulting Hubert Mitchell and Mitchell was charged with assaulting Brown. Brown pleaded guilty through his attorney, Quincy H. Hale, and was fined $10 and costs. Mitchell pleaded not guilty and was released on $50 bail for a further hearing next Thursday morning.

Sober Fighters Puzzle Court

Judge Brundley asked Brown if he had been drinking liquor at the inn on the night of the fight. Brown denied that he had anything stronger to drink than beer.

"How can you fellows get into such a fight if you aren't drunk?" asked the court. "What kind of a place are they running out there anyway?"

Brown said there was a bar in the front and in the rear of the place; that there was a dance hall. He also said there were three or four rooms where drinks were served. Brown asserted that he had never even asked for liquor in the inn.

After Mitchell had pleaded not guilty he asked if he could tell his story. He was allowed to talk and declared that Brown had insulted the girl who was in the Mitchell party and that Brown struck him when he demanded an apology and denied that he had struck Brown first. The judge repeated his question to Brown, asking Mitchell if he had had any liquor to drink. Mitchell declared he had not been drinking.

"From reports that come to me about this place, I shouldn't think a respectable girl would go there," said the judge. "The girl who was with us is respectable and I know of other respectable girls who go there," responded Mitchell.

"Well, I don't see how they can do it," was all the judge had to say.

The arrests were made by Deputy Sheriff Wendling, county dance hall inspector, who was there when the fight started and who separated the two batters.

BODY OF UNKNOWN BOY IS FOUND IN LAKE AT MADISON

MADISON, Wis. — The body of an unidentified boy about 19 years of age was found in Lake Mendota Tuesday morning, floating near the shore in the thickly populated fraternity section. No marks of identification could be discovered, nor has anyone been reported missing.

It is believed that the body is that of a student who went in swimming late Monday night and misjudging the depth of the water, dove in and was unable to swim to shore.

Two boys going to the lake saw the body in the clear water, and brought it to shore. Police are trying to find trace of friends or of parents of the drowned boy.

PARLEY ON IN DUBLIN OVER PEACE PLANS

South African Premier Confers With De Valera, Griffith and Mayor of Dublin

UNIONISTS AND SINKFEINERS RESUME TALKS ON FRIDAY

Progress Reported at Conference at Dublin on Monday

LONDON. — Conferences were under way in Dublin Tuesday between General Jan Christian Smuts, the South African premier, and prominent Irish leaders, says a dispatch to the Evening News from Dublin. General Smuts, conversed with Lord Mayor O'Neill and afterward with Eamon De Valera, the republican leader, and Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein and a member of De Valera's cabinet, the message states.

General Smuts arrived in Dublin Tuesday morning and is the guest of the lord mayor here.

The welcome delegation, including the lord mayor, Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein, and R. C. Barton, Sinn Fein member of parliament for Wicklow, awaited General Smuts at Kingstown. Through some slip, however, they missed the general and he motored to Dublin unnoticed.

Resume Parley Friday

LONDON. — General Jan Christian Smuts, premier of the union of South Africa, left for Ireland Monday night and was expected to arrive in Dublin early Tuesday. It was understood his visit to Ireland was to confer with Sinn Fein and unionist leaders of the resumption of their conference next Friday. The unionists and Sinn Fein held a meeting in Dublin Monday and reports indicated they had reached an understanding as to matters to be discussed at future conferences.

Express Hope for Peace

The Dublin conference was the outstanding feature in London newspapers nearly all treating it sympathetically and expressing hope that it would lead to peace in Ireland. Great interest is manifested in the mission of General Smuts to Ireland, there being a difference of opinion whether it was prompted by the government or undertaken at the invitation of Irish leaders. Sir James Craig, premier of Ulster, has left Belfast for London and it is pointed out he will have abundant time to confer with members of the government and others whom he may desire to consult pending a decision by Eamon De Valera respecting the proposed conference of Irish leaders with Mr. Lloyd George.

Middleton in London

Earl Middleton, one of the four southern unionists who took part in Monday's conference at Dublin, left for England Monday night, and it is assumed he intends to confer with politicians here during the interval before the resumption of the Dublin conference on Friday.

ROTARIANS VISIT GRAVE OF UNKNOWN FRENCH SOLDIER

PARIS. — More than five hundred of the visiting rotary club delegates and their wives went to the grave of the Unknown Soldier in the Place d'Alsace Tuesday forenoon and stood by silently while Dr. Crawford Y. McCullough of Fort William, Ont., president of the International Rotary organization, laid a wreath on the tomb. Dr. McCullough made a brief address in which he expressed the gratitude of the Rotarians for service to humanity, of which the unknown soldier was a symbol. Women members of the party then formed a line and scattered flowers on the grave as they passed.

The visiting international officers of the organization were later received by Marshal Joffre in the Ecole Militaire. In the afternoon the visitors were tendered a reception by the municipality of Paris.

REFORM BUREAU DEMANDS ARREST OF JACK DEMPSEY

Ask Action on Charge of Assault and Battery Upon Carpenter

THREATEN PROSECUTION OF JERSEY PUBLIC OFFICIALS

Permitted Infraction of Law Charges Bureau

JERSEY CITY, N. J. — Counsel for the International Reform bureau Tuesday afternoon demanded that Jersey City officials take action on a charge of assault and battery upon a carpenter, Jack Dempsey, who had been produced in court. It was planned to prefer charge of assault if Dempsey should appear.

JERSEY CITY, N. J. — Details of the plan for the prosecution of public officials in Jersey City were discussed Tuesday by officials of the International Reform bureau, who vainly attempted to prevent the staging of the Dempsey-Carpenter contest Saturday. The officials declared they would take action in the courts against officials whom they considered had permitted an infraction of the law.

The bureau has already demanded the arrest of Dempsey, on a charge of assault and battery upon Carpenter. Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, superintendent of the Reform bureau, declares Governor Edwards violated the law, as well as many other state officials. The some ninety thousand spectators who flocked into the arena are also cited by the reformers as law-breakers. They base their contention upon the assertion that the spectacle was a prize-fight, while the New Jersey boxing law sanctions boxing exhibitions only.

Plan Drive on Pictures

Dr. Crafts announced that the bureau was planning a crusade against the exhibition of motion pictures of the fight anywhere in the world. He said letters would be sent to every mayor in the state and that the bureau hoped thus materially to curtail the exhibitions.

"We are also planning to notify the federal government that the pictures have been or will be sent to foreign countries," he continued, "and will ask that the matter be called to attention of diplomatic representatives of such countries. They will be asked to observe that the exhibition of fight pictures outside New Jersey is a violation of American law."

The reform bureau announced that its campaign is constructive, not destructive.

Program is Constructive

"We will press this constructive campaign harder now," Dr. Crafts said. "Community organizations will be suggested to provide proper recreation in place of such dangerous forms of amusement as unrestricted motion pictures, public dances and automobile rides. People go to prize-fights, check-to-check dances and immoral motion pictures because there is no constructive plan for better recreation."

MOTION TO CANCEL CASE AGAINST BALL PLAYERS OVERRULED

CHICAGO, Ill. — Judge Hugo Friend Tuesday overruled the motion to quash the general conspiracy indictment against eighteen former baseball players and alleged gamblers, in connection with the 1919 world's series scandal.

The defense immediately moved that the state be required to elect which of the twelve counts it will go to trial on attorneys for the ball-players arguing the prosecution could not try twelve conspiracy charges at once.

DIVES INTO LAKE ON DARE; FAILS TO COME UP

JANESVILLE. — Ernest Miller, Chicago, aged 20, took a dare to dive in Delavan lake Monday and never came up. Girls told him he did not dare go under. His parents, who had come from Chicago by automobile, remained to search the lake for the body.

COMMERCE ORGANIZATIONS CONCLUDE TRADE PACT RIO JANEIRO, Brazil. — The North American Chamber of Commerce and the Brazilian Federation of Commerce signed an international arbitration agreement Monday which is considered here of greatest importance to the better trade relationship between the United States and Brazil.

SENATE REJECTS PLAN FOR MONTH'S RECESS

WASHINGTON. — The senate Tuesday rejected, 28 to 24, a concurrent resolution offered by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the republican leader, proposing a four week adjournment of the senate from July 9 to August 5.

SENT TO GUARD U.S. INTERESTS IN OIL FIELDS

Trouble Threatens in Tampico District in Connection With Unemployment Situation

CLOSE AS PROTEST AGAINST TAX INCREASE IS REPORT

U. S. Ships to Take no Action Unless American Interests are Jeopardized

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The cruiser Cleveland and the gunboat Sacramento have been ordered to Tampico, Mexico, to protect American interests in the event that they are jeopardized because of labor troubles growing out of the unemployment situation, it was said at the navy department.

The Sacramento should reach Tampico Tuesday from Galveston. The Cleveland was ordered from Cristobal, C. Z. Zone, and probably will not reach Tampico before Thursday. Both vessels are assigned to the American special service squadron in South and Central American waters. Rear Admiral H. F. Bryan commanding. It was explained at the navy department that unemployment had been constantly increasing in and around Tampico because of depression in the oil industry there due to the new tax system, and that incipient riots and increasing labor troubles had resulted in a decision to send the two warships to the Mexican port to protect American interests should they be endangered.

It was said, however, that the vessels would take no action unless a more serious situation arose. Reports from Tampico Sunday that several ships of the Atlantic fleet had arrived at Tampico were declared by the department to be premature.

Close Down in Reprisal?

MEXICO CITY. — Oil companies which have closed down operations in the states of Tamaulipas and Vera Cruz, "without sufficient justification," are ordered to pay indemnification to employees by President Obregon. It is understood all laborers would receive three months' pay. Reports from the Tampico district indicate there has been a marked cessation of work during the past week, especially among American companies.

General Arnaldo Gomez, commander of federal troops, reported Monday more than 10,000 workmen had been dismissed within the last few days. By foreign oil companies. No reason for their action has been announced by the companies, but it is understood to be an act of reprisal against the recent decree increasing the export taxes on petroleum.

Reports from the Vera Cruz fields indicate British companies are speeding up operations instead of decreasing their working forces.

FOURTH OF JULY ACCIDENTS TAKE TOLL OF LIVES

Greater Number of Deaths Due to Drowning and Automobile Accidents

TWELVE DEAD IN CHICAGO
AND TEN IN MILWAUKEE

Extreme Heat Also Responsible for a Number of Deaths

CHICAGO, Ill.—Reports of Fourth of July accidents showed conclusively Tuesday that, while the celebration by fireworks and firearms took its toll of deaths and seriously injured, by far the greater number of fatalities were from drownings and automobile accidents common to all summer holidays.

Accidents to vacation parties and to those seeking relief from the heat in the water accounted for a large number of serious accidents and fatalities, and heat prostrations also took a number of lives.

In New York City seven persons were drowned, one committed suicide, after becoming demoralized from heat and one heat prostration was reported, while premature explosion of fireworks accounted for only minor accidents.

Chicago reported two persons shot to death by accident, another wounded, five drownings and five killed in auto accidents, while a panic in a vacant lot, when $1,000 worth of fireworks exploded prematurely, led to several being hurt.

A young man accidentally shot and killed himself at Minneapolis and at Rushville, Ill., two were killed when a train struck their automobile.

St. Louis reported three drownings and more than a score slightly injured by fireworks and firearms, and Milwaukee's casualty list totaled ten, with six drownings, two deaths attributed to heat, one death from an automobile accident and one from a premature explosion of gunpowder.

Philadelphia reported three drownings and several heat prostrations with the highest temperature of the year prevailing.

At Pittsburgh one motorist was killed and one injured by stray bullets fired in celebration of the Fourth, and three deaths by drowning were reported.

Cleveland reported one death from a fireworks celebration and four persons were drowned in Quincy, Ill., when a ship upset.

Over at Cologne, Germany, a number of American soldiers reported minor injuries from fireworks as the result of staging an old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration.

The program included the playing of a wreath on the grave of the Unknown Soldier at Westminster Abbey.

The Foz Goes Out of Business
Although the foz has been the national headgear for the Turks for many generations, they were never made in Turkey. These head coverings were all imported, mainly from Austria. The head covering for all officials, troops and Turkish subjects generally will be the "madrasa," made of black felt and its lines are straight, whereas that of the foz were tapering. The effect of the foz was, of course, bright but the new garment is homely in its lines and rather depressing.

AT THE RIVOLI

"The Sin That Was His," starring William Faversham, which is now playing at the Rivoli theater, was written by Frank L. Packard, author of "The Miracle Man," and this new screen creation affords Mr. Faversham a role that instantly brings him to the forefront as one of the screen's leading personalities. Before going into pictures, Mr. Faversham had achieved considerable fame in the spoken drama, and his first big picture, "The Man Who Lost Himself," established him firmly in the firmament of popular picture stars. And that this, his latest picture, will leave him one of the screen's foremost actors is practically a certainty.

Given a powerful story in the first place, Mr. Faversham has endowed it with his wonderful personality, giving to the motion picture public a production that will live in their minds long after they have seen the picture.

Well, What'll It Be?

Pretty little beer bar, don't you cry:
You'll be a pulpit boy-and-byo.

JUST the same, the gentleman with the hung-starter hasn't given up the ship—or shall we say, the schooner. Now he's starting out with his hung-starter to start something with the supreme court. It's all owing to the new state law which says the bars in near-beer parlors must go.

Selling beer with not to exceed one-half of one per cent alcohol, says Jack, thumping the mahogany with a clenched fist, is just as legal as selling soda water, or sandwiches. Jack insists that the state can't forbid a man eating a sandwich or drinking soda water standing up, and neither can it forbid dealers to serve these things on tables high enough to accommodate standing patrons. They can't take his bar away unless they can take the soda fountain bar and the high lunch counter away, and he knows the constitution won't stand for such stuff. In fact, he feels certain that the only thing inoperative in the constitution is the eighteenth amendment, which he has inside information doesn't work out. In fact, he justifies the failure of the eighteenth amendment upon the ground that this part of the constitution is unconstitutional.

Jack puts up a pretty good argument, and the boys nod with conviction. However, it may prove to be true that the law Jack has to knock out is the law under which his place of business is licensed. Possibly the state, if it shall find Jack behind a bar after the ten-day limitation for its removal had elapsed, may take away his license and close him up. Over in Kenosha the city has already taken this short-cut to aridity.

However, Jack still hopes and defies. The world championship series of supreme court decisions upholding the great drought has not discouraged him. He passes with only a deprecating shrug the spectacle of the congress that was to have restored wine and beer to their citizenship now calmly barring beer even as a medicine. Even the Hutton-Blaine compromise dry law does not get his goat. For is not this Wisconsin! One recalls the old sealer in a Kipling sea ballad who swore:

"There's never a law of God or man Runs north of fifty-three."

The Green Mystery

If you have the Sherlock Holmes detective instinct and want to study a mystery more baffling than the most complicated crime, go out to your backyard garden. If you haven't a garden, just look at the different vegetables on the table next time you sit down to dinner.

This is the mystery: You can take a load of soil, plant a seed in it and by mysterious alchemy that seed will gradually change part of the soil into a cabbage. But use a different seed and the same soil will evolve into an onion, a radish or a cluster of lettuce.

What is it that can produce so many different forms of vegetable life out of the same substance—earth?

At the state experiment farm, Wooster, Ohio, scientists took a tract of fifty acres. The soil was the same everywhere on that tract, yet this year it will yield a harvest of 2,000 different varieties of vegetables and fruits. Pick up a handful of dirt anywhere on that fifty acres and you have those 2,000 different crops in concentrated form on your palm.

Up in Portage Lake, Ontario, Canada, an island burned over. Nothing was left but ashes. Six years went by and a naturalist, visiting the island, counted 1426 different kinds of trees and shrubbery. All of which are just a different form of the same substance—earth.

Roger Williams, founder of Rhode Island, died in 1683. In 1866 his grave was opened. The coffin had disappeared—gone back to dust. So had Roger Williams—even his skeleton.

Some one had dropped an apple seed overhead. It sprouted into a tree, whose roots crept down and spread out in the form of a skeleton and in the exact position once occupied by Roger's bones.

"That apple tree," commented one of the diggers, "is Roger Williams. At least, it's the same substance in different form."

Your body is made of earth—dust. Look at your hand. The dust of which it is composed at various times in the past has been part of millions of growing things. Concentrated in you is the identical substance or dust that once formed the tusk of a charging mammoth, the wing of a giant prehistoric bird or the leaf of a monster fern.

Some day again, the dust that makes up your body will live and move in other forms of life. It may be a tree, an insect or a stalk of corn. The change goes on forever—out of the dust, back to the dust.

In the puzzle of what can make that dust become animated in millions of different forms, you have that greatest mystery—the riddle of life.

To Cool Your Mind

LUCKY, compared with you who are sweltering in the summer heat, is Captain Joseph F. Bernard, explorer-scientist. Ice-trapped three years on the white fringe of the North Polar world, he found life there so attractive that he's sailed again from Seattle for a cruise in the ocean north of Siberia. How would you like to make the trip with him? Wouldn't it beat staying in La Crosse the next few months, swatting flies and trying to keep cool?

Captain Bernard started his previous voyage into the Far North in August, 1916. A year later, his ship was north of Hudson Bay, cruising cautiously eastward, groping to find an open channel through the Arctic islands out into the Atlantic ocean. The wall of ice on each side closed in. The open sea was close at hand. If Bernard had started his voyage two hours sooner, he'd have made the open. But he was two hours behind, and the ice caught his ship and held it fast.

"It wasn't pleasant to be cut off from all contact with the outside world," says Bernard. "When we left Nome in 1916, the last war news we heard was about a naval battle between the British and Germans in the North Sea. When we finally got out of the ice, we heard that the war was over. It was especially amazing to know that the United States had entered the conflict."

The Arctic ocean peoples are being wiped out by disease and contact with civilization. Captain Bernard reports. Far North islands, which early explorers found thickly populated, are now sparsely settled. The natives are crazy about the rifles brought in by traders and are shooting themselves out of game for food and clothing. If such reckless practices keep up, says Captain Bernard, the Canadian government within ten years may have to feed and clothe the northern natives to prevent their extinction. That would end one of the most daring racial movements of history, for scientists believe that the Arctic ocean natives are descended from Russian Tartars who fled in skin-canoes from fierce Chinese armies.

Your ancient ancestral tribes used to go north in summer and toward the equator in winter, following the seasons. That's why you yearn for the north now—why you envy Captain Bernard and his crew of scientist-adventurers. It seems that the more we develop transportation, the more inclined we are to stay in one locality and send out rooks. Will the flying machine end that? A few hundred years from now, will the La Crosse worker commute through the air to a summer home in northern Canada and a winter home near the equator?

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

The vault of the La Crosse County Bank of West Salem will be opened tomorrow morning to ascertain the condition of the money and valuable papers and books of the bank which was destroyed by the fire which swept West Salem July 1. Officials of the bank anticipate that the walls of the vault will be so warped that it will be necessary to blow the vault.

La Crosse yesterday struggled in the throes of one of the most insane of Fourth of July celebrations in the history of La Crosse. No deaths are directly traceable to injuries from firecrackers but scores of people were seriously injured, some of them fatally. Firecrackers up to eight inches in length were exploded under the feet of passing horses and persons and under the wheels of street cars. The large plate glass window of the barrel store was shattered by the explosion of a giant cracker thrown from across the street. The injuries ranged from burns and cuts, which doctors say may develop into tetanus, to the loss of a hand and a broken cadernum.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Town chairmen of La Crosse county as well as other counties throughout the state have received official notice from the good roads committee that they must cause to be erected at all road intersections within their towns suitable guide boards giving direction and distance from the point of such intersection to adjoining or important towns.

A plan of having illuminated signs on street cars is being agitated in this city. The signs are approved in all the large cities and many are desirous of having the system adopted here.

Several live wires were blown down at the corner of Eleventh and State streets yesterday and lay in the water standing on the street. Several horses were driven along the street but generally refused to go near the wires. One horse received a slight shock but was led safely across.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

No Fourth of July celebration was ever fuller of prominent features than was the simple dedication of the new Mississippi wagon bridge to the people of La Crosse July 4. The presence of Governor Park and members of his staff added zeal to the ceremonies. The governor spoke the words of dedication.

Present quarters of Hose Company No. 4 are entirely too small and at an inspection of the company tomorrow night and will be taken to secure a more commodious building.

Delly Reimers, a well known pork packer and leading business man in German circles, has bought the residence of W. P. Powers at the corner of Eighth and Cameron Avenue.

A FREEBOOTER

BY MARTHA McCULLOCH-WILLIAMS.

Upon a lovely, languid June afternoon Hopley Dean suffered a suffocating sense of newness. His clothes were fire-new, his car likewise; he had driven it along a new street in a town that, old on the map, was wholly new to his experience. Moreover, he had in his pocket many new business cards, by help whereof he hoped to make new acquaintances promising much profit.

The first of these potential acquaintances were, however, ancient, indeed almost venerable, in the eyes of their neighbors. This partly from age, partly also from the fact that they had owned a farm where now the new street ran, and had been too canny to sell a foot of it—all the new homes were lease-holds, on long and easy terms, to be sure, but inflexible without a by-your-leave to the first owners.

Hopley had gone straight from college into real estate—and with great success. "Send Top of My Thumb!" he'd fetch 'em, had grown to be an office jest when things looked so bleak. Especially with women—he had spoiled a way. Yet he was not a bit spoiled—all the witchcraft he ever used was a cheery manner, a pleasant, soft voice, breathing deference before it could be spoken, and a spirit of genuine fairness, one of kindness, he would go a mile to do grounds that could profit him nothing.

Naturally Hay & Hawkins cherished him, gave him the cream of their business, never butted an eye over expense accounts nor frowned if he stretched work-out leave a day or so. The firm was, happily, daughterless—also it is safe to guess there would have been a battle royal for the Hopley prize.

A power in the big city, the firm yet ran strongly to developments. Hence Hopley's presence here, where still the scent of roses and the tang of ripe fruit haunted the summer air. Today his quarry was to be the Finley sisters—three single ladies—no with uncertain either, as to their ages or their business. He stepped inside their gate, smiling a little at the house front—it was of the solid red brick and was redeemed from forbiddingly only by a black pantheone above the entrance that was as humorous as a garzayle.

Hopley grinned ingratiatingly at it before lifting the big brass knocker. Three times he knocked in vain. As he turned to leave he heard faint stinging from somewhere back, so picked his way along a rearward path that brought him presently into a wilderness of trees, shrubs and vines, then ran on to a prim kitchen garden that ended lower down in a tangle of plum and holly hedges. It was loaded with dead ripe fruit—so darkly red it was black. And up in the very tip there was a box in acorns, shining and swinging perilously by one hand and foot, the while the other hand plucked the wings farthest out of reach.

Again Hopley grinned—cherries, red ripe ones, were his special weakness. He all but ran toward the tree, calling as he went: "Throw down a basket, sonny—I'll pay you all right. I'll climb for 'em myself if the tree had room for us both."

Sonny started visibly—swung too far out and over, lost foothold, clung by both hands to the trunk, which branched a little below, and brought half of it down with a crash upon Hopley's head. The overalled boy lay prone upon the plum boughs, but rolled from the tree to earth, and crawled out, saying angrily: "I'd like to know what you are here for?"

"Cherries! The same as you," Hopley began—then stopped short, blushing crimson. Inside the overalls there was no boy, but a girl, pretty in spite of a scratched face, a snub nose, and a sleeve ripped out of the dress underneath her disguise.

"You're a mimic!" she said suddenly. "I'm a freebooter. Just that. I did want cherries—less to eat than to gather them so—offered those three old cats ten dollars to let me do it—they turned me down cold—any way they hate Granny and all her works—so when I saw them go off in their old chariot I put on these," looking proudly at her outer integument, "and came—for the good of their souls!"

"But—what if you had 'em?" Hopley asked with twinkling eyes.

"Let—that's the other one of us, my cousin, you know—fell for that farmette foot doings—these are hers," the girl explained. "My you hadn't on some. Just look at your coat. You'll never get the stains out. I hope you can afford a new one."

"After a while—maybe. Now, let's eat our fill of cherries," Hopley returned, sitting action to words. Twenty minutes later, hardly muffled by conversation, he wiped a gory mouth with purple fingers, then said, reflectively: "We don't care to be seen as we are. Suppose we take a ride—to last until dark. Here's insurance that I'm respectable."

"And I'm Betty Lindsay—that ought to be enough for you," the girl said, reading the card he held out. "I'm game—I know all about you—and then some. But you'd better leave me. I can gather home samples. If the Finleys hear you've been carning me around it's good-by half ground for yours."

"You know quite too much," Hopley laughed back. "I shan't ask how—only tell you, if I can swing the deal I shall be unreasonably happy."

"I don't see why. Uncle Timothy told me last night, after Gran was asleep, about your people—the Double H's he calls them—wanting that crazy-fishy land—and what for? He's wild to have you get it—says it will mean so much to the town now that mills are here and so many men and boys have to real play-places. But he dares not speak out—the Finleys hate us. I told him to memorialize them against your plan. It would help a lot, I know."

"I see. We need you in the firm—mighty badly," Hopley interrupted. "Steady now—let me fetch around the car—will you get the back way—side, right—to Paradise," the last words so low nobody but himself heard them.

They rode far and long, stopping after moon-up to get a luncheon at the roadside, and after it, going slowly

Copyright, 1921, Associated Editors The Biggest Little Paper in the World Edited by John H. Miller

"HAIRPIN FLYER" IS EASY STEP IN STUDY OF MODEL AIRPLANES

A handy experiment for boys and girls interested in model airplanes, and an article that is equally as valuable and entertaining to those who just like to "monkey around," is this little, easily-made "hairpin flyer."

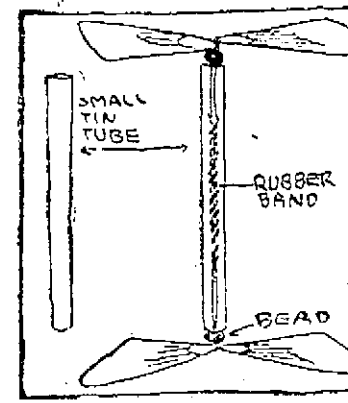

As the illustration shows, the flyer is of very simple construction. The body of the machine consists of a hairpin tube about three inches long and about as wide as a common bean shooter.

Two propellers are made. They are not larger in fact, they are so small they may be made out of a good sized hairpin. This is where the flyer gets its name.

Bend the propellers as shown in the illustration, with one side slanting one way, and the other side the other way, just as the real airplane propeller, you have been are fashioned. Cover the blades with thin, light paper. Paste the paper around the wire.

Over the bit of wire that extends from the propeller into the tube (this is called the propeller shaft) slip a small glass bead. It will serve as a bearing and prevent the propeller from wobbling against the sharp end of the tube, which might prevent the propeller from working properly.

Connect the two propeller shafts with a strong rubber band. This is the engine of the machine, and when it has been installed the flyer is ready for experimenting.

Twist the propellers in opposite directions. Hold the tube upright in the air and release both propellers at the same time.

If you have constructed the machine properly and used light, strong materials the hairpin flyer will ascend to a height that will surprise you. Make one and see how successful an aeronaut you are.

SKETCHES TRIES FOR A SODA FOUNTAIN JOB, BUT DOESN'T GET IT

(Second Day of "Sketches Lands a Job")

"Guess I'll look through the paper and see if there's any advertisements for boys in offices or some place," thought Sketches the next morning. He had awakened somewhat earlier than usual to prepare for his task of hunting a vacation job.

But the classified advertisements contained but one call for a boy. A drug store stated that they were in need of a soda fountain assistant.

The description of the job appealed to Sketches. Soda fountains. Sure, he knew that it would be fun working behind a soda fountain. All the ice cream you want, an everything. He ate breakfast rather hurriedly. Mrs. Munson and Mr. Munson, too, glanced questioningly at Sketches, but he offered no explanation of his rush. The breakfast dishes taken care of, Sketches set out for the drug store at a trot. It wasn't much of a walk and in fifteen minutes he was there. But it wasn't until he was there that he realized that he was in a bit of a predicament. He wasn't feeling as comfortable as he would have felt when he prepared to enter and ask for the job.

He is Confident
"But I'll get it all right if I just try," Sketches believed in keeping his courage up even in the face of a hot day. So, assuming the most business-like air he possibly could, he walked stiffly into the store.

Behind the counter was a young man, apparently of about Sketches' age, cleaning the big wall mirror with a cloth.

Sketches coughed slightly to attract attention and the boy turned.

"I come to see about the job," announced Sketches pointedly.

"Job? What job?" asked the boy. "The one you fellows advertised about in the paper."

Sketches Cuts Merry "Haw Haw" The boy behind the counter threw back his head and haw-hawed. "Say—you're good," he laughed. "Why ain't you more job secure here, kid? I got here first. Don't lay in bed so long." And with another chuckle that cut deeper into Sketches than the others had done, the newly made soda fountain assistant turned to his big mirror and continued work.

For a moment Sketches felt like jumping over the counter and dragging the young fellow out and giving him a good trouncing.

"But, skunks—what's the use?" he reasoned, and he walked slowly and dejectedly out of the store. If he only would have landed earlier! Maybe he would have landed the job. Oh, well—when Sketches crawled into his bed that night, with no vacation job in view, he was a very discouraged boy. (More Tomorrow)

GOING SLOW

BY DR. WILLIAM E. BARTON

A friend of mine who drives a car spoke recently to me of "that inferable nuisance upon the public highway, the law-abiding driver."

I understood him to mean that the speed limit, which is the law, is completely out of touch with the average conditions, and that when the road is evidently clear, any limit which the statute can justify itself in setting becomes unreasonably slow.

Without discussing it in its legal bearings, or saying to what extent obedience to the law should be a matter of precise definition and when it becomes a matter of reasonable interpretation, I think I know what my friend had in mind.

Not long ago, Dr. Woods Hutchinson asserted that "the slower you live, the faster you die." He meant that nothing wears men out so surely as having no object in life to kindle the enthusiasm and speed up effort. The active life is the long life as well as the productive life.

Not Work That Kills

It is not hard work that kills men, nor is it working rapidly.

A man can learn to work rapidly, read rapidly, think rapidly, and be all the better for it in body and mind.

A man can yawn through the reading of a book, and take a month to it, and know nothing about it when it is done, while another man can review books at the rate of three a hour, and without pretending to have read them, can have an intelligent opinion of each of them. Nor is such work necessarily superficial; it can be done with some degree of justice, and with necessary rapidity.

Living Slowly May Kill

The man who learns to read a page in half a minute can often tell more about what is on that page than the man who reads it with wandering mind and spells out every word.

Rapid work is not necessarily bad work. Rapid living is not necessarily wasteful living. Living slowly may kill a man more rapidly than some forms of living rapidly.

I do not remember ever to have known a man who worked himself to death.

I have known many who have worried themselves to death, and others who died because they had nothing left to live for.

GIRLS IN CHINA SOLD FOR AS LOW A DOLLAR EACH

Famine Relief Workers Recalled
But Need is Nearly as Great as Ever

PEKING, June 2. (Delayed).—Statistics on the sale of children, wives and daughters-in-law in the South China district prepared by the International Famine Relief committee, though covering but a fraction of the entire famine area, indicate the extent of the traffic carried on. Between deaths and sales, many villages are completely stripped of children. The prices appear to have ranged from one dollar to $150, with one instance reported of a girl bringing $350.

Although the traffic was due primarily to poverty, it appears from the investigation made that dealers worked upon the cupidity of fathers and husbands in many cases and resorted to adroit measures to evade the law and recruit victims for various questionable purposes.

Famine relief in a large majority of the afflicted districts is being terminated by the International Relief committee and the field workers recalled.

Several districts however will have to be carried through June and a section of these districts through the summer. Rain falls quite generally throughout the famine area, and for the most part, crops are normal.

ADMIRAL SIMS SCORES "MUZZLING" OF U. S. ARMY-NAVY OFFICERS

Declares Criticism Would Make for Greater Efficiency in Armed Forces

PEOPLE KNOW LITTLE OF U. S. MILITARY CONDITIONS HE SAYS

Urges Public Discussion to Protect People's Interests

NEWPORT, R. I.—The attitude of the United States, which he said, not only had always neglected to provide for public criticism by officers of the armed force, but has actually forbidden it, was contrasted with that of some European powers, by Rear Admiral William S. Sims, in an address Monday before the Rhode Island branch of the Society of the Cincinnati. In which he urged public discussion as a safeguard to public interests. In some continental countries, he declared, criticism was recognized as so vital to efficiency it was rewarded when it proved beneficial.

The American people, Admiral Sims said, know less about the elements of warfare and less about the actual conditions of their military forces than the people of any other great power.

Leads to Unpreparedness
This, he said, led to unpreparedness for war, declaring the efficiency of the various federal departments necessarily depended largely upon the interest the people took in their efficiency.

"I believe," he continued, "that the reason for this dangerous lack in our people of solicitude for our national security is due chiefly to our belief that our independence is never likely to be in danger, though this feeling has been somewhat shaken by recent events."

"Contrast this condition of mind with that of some European countries where the national defense is always a live issue. The truth about the actual condition of their armed forces is so vitally important that any one who can point out a defect or suggest an improvement will earn the gratitude of his government. Criticism is invited and rewarded when it proves beneficial."

"Not So in United States."

In the United States we have not only always neglected to provide for public criticism by our officers, but we have actually forbidden it.

"More than a year ago a senate committee completed an investigation of a matter of vital importance to our first line of national defense. Practically all of the naval witnesses testified that the organization of our navy department is such as to make it impossible effectively to prepare for war or to conduct war. Notwithstanding the importance of this investigation, the report of the committee has not yet been made. Are our people losing any sleep over this? They are not."

"The missing element in Americanism is that it does not include adequate solicitude for our safety. The government and, to a certain extent, the people resent criticism of anything American."

"American" He Says

Admiral Sims expressed the hope that his hearers would be kind enough to consider me an American, notwithstanding the title has been given me by certain unfriendly critics of the most popular British admiral in the American navy."

HARDINGS RETURN

TO WASHINGTON
BARTON, N. J.—The President and Mrs. Harding Tuesday brought to a close their holiday vacation spent here at the home of Senator Freylinghausen. They left early this morning for Washington. As in coming the party traveled in the chair car of a regular train.

A Bit Too Severe

"I have come here," said the angry man to the superintendent of the street car line, "to get justice, sir. Yesterday, as my wife was getting off one of your cars the conductor stepped on her dress and tore a yard of flannel off the skirt."

The superintendent remained cool. "Well, sir," he said, "I don't know that we are to blame for that. What do you expect us to do? Get her a new dress?"

The Perfection of the Radio

It is now possible to telephone by wireless over as great a distance as by the ordinary wire. The quality of the transmitted speech is as perfect as that which comes over the ordinary telephone; and the same remark applies to music sent by radio. It is confidently predicted that before very long communication across the Atlantic by radio-telephone will be established on a commercial basis. When that has been accomplished, a person in Philadelphia or New York will be able at any time to call up and converse with a friend or business acquaintance in London or Paris by paying a stated and moderate rate per five minutes of talk.

MISS FERN NICHOLS BECOMES THE BRIDE OF EARL W. LYONS

ON THURSDAY evening, June 30, at eight o'clock, the marriage of Miss Fern Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Nichols, to Mr. Earl W. Lyons, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, 1815 Prospect street. The ceremony took place in the living room of the home in a pretty bower of palms and ferns. The bride was attended by Misses Myrtle Bugh and Myrtle Melroyd. The groomsmen were Messrs. Carl Wendling and Harold Selberg. Rev. W. S. Stewart, pastor of the First Baptist church, performed the ceremony and the bride was given in marriage by her father. Only the members of the immediate family and intimate friends were in attendance.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white crepe satin. Her veil was becomingly arranged with lilacs of the valley. The bouquet was a shower of bridal roses and sweet peas. The gift of the bridegroom was a string of pearls, which the bride wore. The bridesmaids' frocks were of old rose dotted swiss and they carried bouquets of roses and sweet peas. The going away costume of the bride was blue tulle, with which she wore a georgette blouse and a hat to match.

Following the ceremony a luncheon was served. Green and white was the color scheme carried out in the dining room, and pink and white in the living room. A large white wedding bell was suspended above the bride's table. Later a reception was held, when Miss Eva Nichols presided at the refreshment bowl. Mr. and Mrs. Lyons left for Tacoma, Wash., where they will spend their honeymoon, and on their return will be at home to their friends in the 900 block, Prospect street.

EIGHT DEAD IN OIL EXPLOSION MONDAY AT WHITING, IND.

Thirty-six Injured and Property Damage is Estimated at Two Millions

CHICAGO, Ill.—Eight men dead, thirty-six others injured, ten so seriously they may die, and property damage unofficially estimated at $2,000,000, is the result of Monday's explosion in the Standard Oil company's plant at Whiting, Ind.

Two huge steel stills burst, the brick walls inclosing them crumbled and a sheet of burning oil and gas spread for a radius of 200 yards, trapping the night force. Five men were burned to death and three died later.

Most of those injured were caught in the shower of flame but others were struck by the falling brick and steel walls of the stills. Excessive pressure or a tiny leak of gas were the two probable causes of the explosion advanced.

Doctors and nurses from surrounding towns were summoned and the injured were rushed to Chicago hospitals.

Had the explosion occurred half an hour later, the day force of forty men would have been at work.

U. S. AIR SERVICE PLANS NATION-WIDE CHAIN OF AIRWAYS

Plan Facilities for Use of all Operations of Aircraft

PLAN FIRST MODEL AIRWAY
FROM WASHINGTON TO DAYTON

Appeal to Civic Organizations to Aid in Plan

WASHINGTON.—A system of model airways, covering the entire continent, is planned by the army air service for the use of all operators or owners of aircraft. It contemplates chains of well organized landing fields supplemented by frequent emergency fields and identification markers connecting the principal cities.

Because of lack of appropriations from the government, air service officials said they would appeal to chambers of commerce, aerial clubs and civic organizations for assistance. The Boy Scouts organization already has pledged its co-operation. It was stated, and will construct identification markers, send weekly reports on emergency landing conditions and generally assist aviators in trouble.

The plan calls for the first of the model airways between Washington and Dayton, Ohio, with five main stations, ten subsidiary stations and twenty emergency stations.

Each main station will be provided with a municipal landing field, wireless and telephone equipment and a meteorological station which will forecast weather conditions and wind directions and disseminate such information to the fliers along the route.

Other airways tentatively approved by the air service to be included in the national system of air trails include one from New York City to Lafayette, La., connecting the principal cities between the two terminals, one from Jacksonville, Fla. to San Diego, Calif., another from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Seattle to be known as the Yellowstone trail and another from New Orleans to Chicago.

CONTRALTO WILL SING AT NORMAL ON WEDNESDAY

Mrs. George Gere, contralto, with Miss Kate Williams as her accompanist, will appear in recital at the Normal school on Wednesday morning, July 6th at ten o'clock. Mrs. Gere will present a program by American composers, the first group including:

FRENCH MAJOR SHOT IN DEMONSTRATION IN SILESIAN TOWN

Reported Shot by Hostile German Crowd During Evacuation by Poles

FRENCH WERE TO BLAME DECLARES BERLIN PAPER

Troops Attacked People First is Claim

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.—The killing of Major Monastier of the French army during a hostile demonstration by the German population of Beuthen, Upper Silesia, reported in foreign office advices, has created a most painful impression in French official circles, it was indicated Tuesday.

The reported killing occurred after the Poles had withdrawn from the town under the evacuation agreement. The officer was in command of a small French detachment, British troops assigned to the town had not arrived. The major was shot from behind by some one in the crowd, reports declare.

When the British troops arrived, the foreign advices announced, they were ordered to fire in order to disperse the crowd and some of the demonstrators were killed and others were wounded.

BERLIN.—The version of the trouble at Beuthen, Upper Silesia, given by the Allgemeine Zeitung Tuesday, declares the people of Beuthen began acclaiming the allies upon the Polish withdrawal but that when the inhabitants started singing patriotic songs the French attacked them with rifle butts. Some shots were fired, the account continues, a major being killed and several Frenchmen being wounded, whereupon the French lost control, with the result that several women and children were killed. Twenty prominent citizens of Beuthen were taken as hostages, the newspaper adds and an inquiry was opened.

DISCUSS NAVAL DEFENSE

LONDON.—Plans for Britain to the naval defense of the British empire were discussed at Tuesday's session of the imperial conference. Opposition to the discussion of this subject by Premier McPherson of Canada and others seemed to have broken down, and the admiralty laid before members of the conference a confidential memorandum, understood to have been the basis of yesterday's debate. Naval authorities have been insisting that the dominions contribute to the naval strength of the empire should be definitely fixed.

LEGISLATURE MEETS TO ADJOURN AGAIN TILL NEXT TUESDAY

Delay Final Adjournment to Give Governor Time to Consider Bills Before Him

FORTY-FOUR BILLS SENT TO THE GOVERNOR ON TUESDAY

Governor Not Expected to Delay Adjournment

MADISON, Wis.—The legislature convened Tuesday, recalled one or two minor bills from the governor for amendment, and then adjourned until next Tuesday.

Adjournment was taken after conference with Governor Blaine, who told the legislators that it would be impossible for him to consider many of the important bills before that time. Forty-four measures, including the university and normal school bills, the marketing bill and park bills, reached the governor Tuesday morning.

When the legislature meets next Tuesday it is believed that a date for sine die adjournment will be set, and the work of the legislature terminated.

These advisors of Governor Blaine expressed the opinion that the session would not be opened up again from any move on the part of the executive. They said that he was willing to let matters ride as far as the present legislature is concerned and then call a special session if highway funds are needed.

By reopening the existing legislature, opportunity would be given to start immediate trouble through moves on the part of some members to undo the work that has already been accomplished. It is said that a special attempt would be made to modify the marketing bill.

Under special session the governor outlines work that is to be done, and nothing more can be proposed by the legislature.

DR. DIXON SPEAKER OF DAY AT FOURTH CELEBRATION HERE

Interesting Talk is Given by Pastor of First Methodist Church

GREAT SOCIAL PROBLEMS CONFRONT THE NATION NOW

Mayor Commends Effort of Outdoor Sports Association

As one of the first numbers of the Fourth of July athletic and aquatic festival held in the city Monday, Dr. Dixon of the First Methodist Episcopal church, was chosen by the Kiwanis club as the speaker of the day.

Dr. Dixon spoke in part as follows: "We are not on the one hundred and forty-fifth anniversary of the Declaration of Independence and while the United States government was not fully organized in its present form until the adoption of the Constitution in 1787, it is customary for us to think of our democratic form of government as dating from 1776.

"It is of this independent, self-governing democracy that we wish to speak, for it was the first government properly so described in the history of the world and marks a complete revolution in the forms of government previously known. It is now well understood that the so-called Greek and Roman republics were in reality oligarchies in which the greater part of the people were actually slaves.

"Switzerland is often thought of as an ancient republic but it was far from being such a democracy as ours until recent years.

"For centuries Switzerland had simply the independence that a liberty-loving people enjoyed because they lived in a region of mountain fastnesses beyond the reach of France, Germany, Austria and Italy, which in turn and in various forms exercised rule over these Alpine people.

"It was not until the 17th century that Switzerland existed as an independent nation and until the 18th did it exist in its present form. Of course William Tell is known to have been but a myth and much of the same character surrounds Arnold of Winkelried.

America Self-Governing

"But from the beginning, the United States of America was a genuine, self-governing, independent republic, some of you may remember the story.

"We need to think of what other nations were to properly understand our own and its relation to Great Britain. We think of British rule as having been tyrannical and oppressive, and indeed it was, but what we overlook is the fact that had it as it was, it was the best government of its time. You only need to think of what Italy, Spain, Turkey, France and Prussia were to realize that England was not alone and not supreme in tyranny. Governments had been from time immemorial the organization of the strong for the exploitation of the weak. Changes in government simply meant the change from one tyrannical power to another.

"When England levied taxes without representation, closed ports without reason or just cause, and prohibited the manufacture of goods in the country that we might be compelled to buy all from the mother country she was only doing what governments had always done.

"When American patriots banded themselves together under a declaration which asserted that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, that all men are created free and equal, that life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are the natural rights of men universally, they amazed the courts of Europe.

Greatest Constitution

"And when a government was organized under a constitution which fully provided for every exigency of public life practically without change down to this present hour it is not strange that Gladstone, Englishman that he was, declared that this constitution was the greatest work ever produced at a single time by the brain and purpose of man.

"Now our whole history has been nothing less or other than the working out of these few, simple and yet tremendous ideas contained in the declaration.

"We have not always seen just exactly what democracy meant but we have consistently held to the principle and as our history has been the unfolding of that idea in the past, so the future will be our full persuasion of nothing other than a continuation of that same process until it is applied eventually to every phase of our social and industrial as well as our political life.

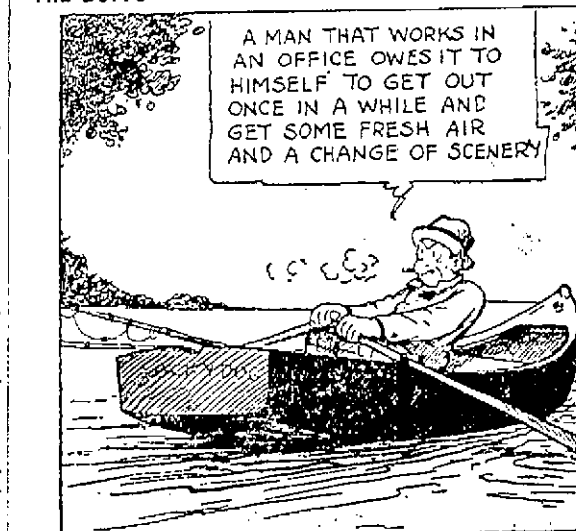

"Washington himself did not think of separation at first. As late as 1775 he declared that he 'abhorred the idea of independence.' But he presently saw that there was to be no democracy worthy of the name except by independence.

"We think of Lincoln as the perfect flower of our American democracy. His addresses and papers which now seem so common sense and simple were actually forward steps in the evolution of the democracy which he so perfectly represented.

"Thus in the case of the lawsuit resulting from the burning of the Rock Island railroad bridge in 1857 by the steamboat men of St. Louis, Lincoln argued with the greatest care to show that since thousands of people desired to travel east and west, and thousands of cars had crossed the bridge the year before it was burned, this was a case to be settled according to the just claims of the people upon the right of convenient travel, it was not to be settled by the power of the steamboat men who would violently destroy a public convenience.

"All of Lincoln's life prepared the way for those familiar words of the Gettysburg address, 'A government of the people, for the people, and by the people, should not perish from the earth.' For that is how the president emphasized the words as he uttered them.

the people, should not perish from the earth. For that is how the president emphasized the words as he uttered them.

"It is for us now as we enjoy in peace and prosperity the wonderful privileges of our great and prosperous democracy to remember that democracy is a living principle of government, not yet having finished its work but developing still in the perfecting of our organized public life. We must look for the full application of the principle everywhere and be suspicious of any attempt to smother the natural development of it.

Social Confusion

"We are in the midst of much social confusion and great problems are to be solved, notably that of the relation of capital and labor.

"We shall not solve the problem by force, by labor destroying capital as in Russia, not by capital oppressing labor as in most societies in the past. But we shall solve the problem by the way of industrial democracy which means nothing other than that the capitalists and the laborer must meet together around the same table and at the same ballot box and neither robbing the other, grant to each by force, all that is due in proportion to the contribution of each to the completed whole. Then independence day will not only be a celebration of a great event in the past but will be the herald of a new day in the future that is right at hand."

Mayor Speaks

Before introducing the mayor of the day, Dr. Dixon, at the opening of the program at the fair grounds, Mayor Arthur Bentley took advantage of the opportunity to express the city's appreciation of the efforts of the officers and members of the Outdoor Sports association. The mayor said in part:

"In my opinion the city of La Crosse warmly approves of the splendid program prepared for observance of Independence day, as announced by the Outdoor Sports association which is now to be opened by these appropriate exercises. This program may do much to prepare the minds of the young people to receive the real lessons of the revolutionary war. Too long have we neglected to emphasize the real meaning of the American revolution."

The Fourth should quit being the day of fireworks and crowding and come to its own as the crowning touch of public observance. The American revolution is the greatest stepping-stone in the march of the centuries toward freedom, and the new Fourth must not be the day when the American eagle screams in war-like tones. The revolution was not a quarrel between two peoples, it was a strife between two different political and economic systems. History reveals the fact that there was a British revolution at the same time there was an American revolution. The British revolution was to regain liberty. The American revolution was to preserve liberty. On both sides of the Atlantic, the king's prerogatives were the aim of revolutionary attack. We may justly approve and endorse a program of Outdoor sports as a means to make healthy our minds as well as our bodies, thus making room for the complete absorption of the stimulating lessons to be enjoyed in the new kind of Fourth of July celebration which a more comprehending patriotism is now demanding throughout this glorious republic. It is therefore in this spirit that I gladly recommend today's program to our good people."

SHORE RAILROAD RAISES RATES TO 3 CENTS A MILE

Increase Authorized by Rail Commission Affects 38 Miles of Road

MADISON, Ill.—Increase in the fare charged by the Chicago & North Shore railroad within Wisconsin from 2.7 cents per mile to 3 cents was authorized by the railroad commission Tuesday morning. The change affects 38 miles of the line.

Another order of the commission dismissed the complaint of the Chicago & North Shore railroad against the city of Racine over the crossing at Harvey road. Agreement was reached between the city and the railroad. Higher electric rates were authorized for Paradiseville and Fountain City, with increased water rates for the village of Thorpe, and increased telephone rates for Wonewoc.

The Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad was authorized to refund eighteen thousand and four hundred twenty-four dollars to the Park Falls Lumber company as the difference between reasonable rates and those actually charged for hauling logs.

THIS WEEK'S BEAUTY HELP

It is not necessary to shampoo your hair so frequently if it is entirely and properly cleansed each time by the use of a really good shampoo. The easiest to use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers is one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair and may be enjoyed at very little expense, by dissolving a teaspoonful of catron which can be obtained from any druggist, in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just to the top of the head. This, when rubbed into the scalp and onto every strand of hair, chemically dissolves all impurities. It is very soothing and cooling in its action as well as beneficial to both scalp and hair. After rinsing out the lather so created, you will find the scalp is fresh, clean and free from dandruff while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy.

BRINGING UP FATHER

AUTO LICENSE FUNDS TO BE RETURNED TO WISCONSIN COUNTIES

Nearly Three Millions Collected by State to be Turned in to County Coffers

QUARTER OF MONEY TO BE PAID OVER EARLY IN AUGUST

Counties Receive Amounts in Proportion to Number of Cars

MADISON, Wis.—Nearly $3,000,000 collected in auto licenses for the fiscal year will be returned to the counties of the state for the construction and maintenance of state trunk highways during August. This is the statement of Elmer S. Hall, Secretary of State, and A. D. Hirst, State Highway Engineer on Tuesday.

The sale of license plates for the fiscal year brought in $3,850,029.24. From this amount there is deducted $1,167,186.22 for administration expenses. This will leave $2,682,843.02 which is now in the state treasurer's cash balance. Of this amount one quarter is remitted directly to the counties the first week in August by direction of Mr. Hall. Each county will receive an amount of this quarter in proportion to the number of autos licensed in the respective counties.

This means that $670,710.75 will be remitted directly to the counties of the state the first week in August. The money is to be used for the maintenance of state highways in the counties. The remaining three quarters of the total or $2,012,132.27 is turned over to the Highway Commission. Under the statutes that commission deducts $168,000 for administration expenses of the department. Of the remaining amount the commission then deducts a sufficient amount to meet the state's one third share of the federal aid for highway purposes. Mr. Hirst estimates that this will be $524,000 this year.

A free balance will then be left amounting to $1,488,132.27. This money under the statutes, is allotted to the counties for the maintenance of state highways under the direction of the state highway department. This will bring the total that will be returned to the counties for the maintenance of highways up to $2,810,843.02. This money will be all returned this year beginning in August.

BEAUTIFUL SPECIMENS FROM SEA

Some beautiful specimens of vegetation may be gathered from the sea and if properly handled and cared for may be made the source of much interest. When gathered, they should be placed as quickly as possible in seawater—in a bucket carried by the collector or preferably, where the more delicate species are concerned, in a wide-mouthed bottle. For preservation they must be dried—the large, coarse ones between blotters under pressure. All others should be mounted as quickly as possible on thick unglazed paper.

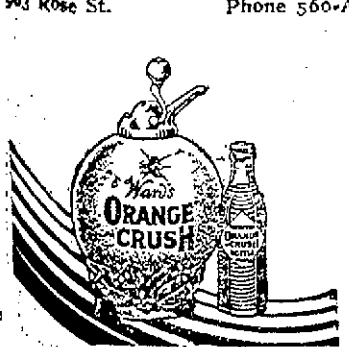

The more delicate specimens should be floated on sea-water, a piece of paper thereby removed from the water carefully, to be then arranged on the paper to best advantage with a needle and drops of water set fall from a pipette. They may then be dried under moderate pressure between blotters, first laying a thin white cloth over them to keep them from sticking. The blotters should be changed twice a day until all moisture is removed.

BOATS UNABLE TO HANDLE RUSH OF HOLIDAY OUTERS

Thousands Sleep in Parks at Michigan Resorts Unable to Get Back to Chicago

CHICAGO, Ill.—So many excursionists from Chicago and northern Illinois visited Michigan resorts during the week-end and holiday that when they all started returning Monday night the boats were unable to handle the thousands seeking transportation and scores were stranded in the rush for ships at several points. Many who returned via steam and electric lines bore rumors that a ship or ships had sunk, probably originating, it was believed, in the fancied scarcity of ships. Thousands slept in the parks of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, Mich., while the steamers brought capacity crowds back and returned early Tuesday to bring back others.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE AND SHOOT

But few persons are realizing the extent of the game in Africa. A traveler writes as follows from a camp pitched only four miles from the Uganda railroad and within twenty miles of Nairobi: "As I sit writing in my tent I can see through the door at least four thousand head of game feeding on the plain. There is one group not four hundred yards away. They consist of wildebeest, hartebeest, Grant's gazelle, Thompson's gazelle, impals, ostriches, waterbuck, eland, and hundreds of zebra. I have never seen anything like it in any other part of Africa, and, as you know, I know something of the game districts of southern Rhodesia, the Belgian Congo, the Tanganyika territory, and the Portuguese territory near the Rovuma."

Mistakes We Often Make There is a proverb which reads: "The man who never made a mistake never made anything else." There is a great deal of truth in that saying. Sometimes we come across one of those perfect individuals who claims never to make mistakes, but more often we find that these very same persons not only make mistakes but very grave ones.

The Portuguese minister of commerce has asked for an appropriation of $500,000 to be spent in the rehabilitation of 300 miles of roads through the country. By reason of the favorable rate of exchange, traveling through Portugal has become immensely popular and the minister of commerce has taken the stand that if the influx of tourists is to be encouraged it is necessary that there should be good roads in order that the various points of interest may be reached. There are a great many natural attractions in that country but they have not heretofore been exploited to any extent.

Drys on the Watch Lest Sentiment for Dry Law Repeal be Exaggerated

NEW YORK.—Prohibition organizations are on the watch lest sentiment favorable to repeal of the eighteenth amendment be exaggerated. there were actually 14,922 persons in line, including 922 bandmen and twenty-four policemen.

The organizers of the demonstration telegraphed U. S. Senators Wadsworth and Calder that "the remarkable anti-prohibition parade of over 100,000 good citizens" would support them in opposition to the Volstead act. Pledges from men and women to march had totalled 202,670, the promoters say.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

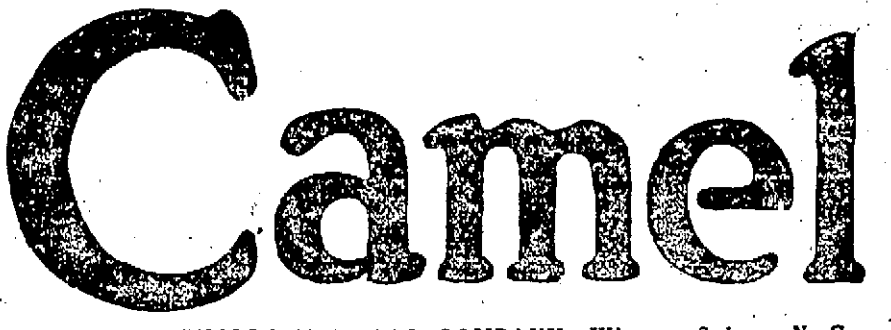

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarette aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

NELSONS DEFEAT VIROQUA AND TIE GENOA AGGREGATION

Take Game from Western Wisconsin League Leaders in Morning by Score of 6 to 2

RAIN HALTS GENOA GAME IN ELEVENTH INNING, 7-7

Hix Remains in Box for Twenty Innings Monday

The Nelson Clothing company baseball team made a neat showing in two out-of-town games Monday, defeating the Viroqua club in the morning game at Genoa by a score of 6 to 2 and tying the Genoaans in the afternoon game at the end of ten innings, 7 to 7. The game was called in the first of the eleventh when the local club had one man on base on account of rain.

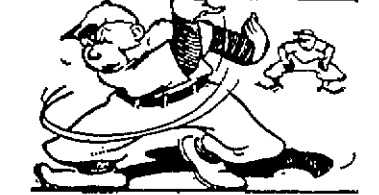

The leaders of the Western Wisconsin league were defeated by the Nelson club as the morning attraction of the Genoa Fourth of July celebration. Morrison, pitching for the Viroqua club, was hit by the local batsmen for five hits and allowed four men bases. Callaway and "Pat" Garin were the only Viroqua batsmen who were allowed safeties off the delivery of Hix.

The two scores hung up by the western leaguers came as a result of Garin's smash for a round trip in the eighth inning with one man on base. The ball was lost in the tall timber in the field. Tanke, of the locals, connected with a two bagger in the second inning which drove in Hix and Beranek for the initial counts of the game.

With Walsh, of the Sampson tractors, in the box for the Genoaans, the north sliders played the down river team to a tie in ten innings in the afternoon. Hix was again on the mound for the local team and hurled in great style for twenty innings. With the intense heat baking down on the field, Hix was highly commended on his ability to remain the entire two games. Franzini was forced to abandon his position behind the plate in the seventh inning because of the heat, while Tanke and Hix were almost overcome by the heat.

Beranek featured with the stick and on bases for the local team, garnering three safeties and stealing the sacks in spite of every odd. The entire Nelson team worked in excellent style during both games and indicated point to a classy exhibition in the twilight game next Thursday with the Lansing aggregation.

With a man on first and no outs, the Nelsons threatened to score in the eleventh inning when the game was called on account of rain. Spectators were held on edge throughout the contest. Hix and Walsh each were credited with five strikeouts and the latter allowed one pass.

CARPENTIER UNABLE TO BOX FOR SIX WEEKS SAYS DOCTOR

MANHASSET, N. Y. — Georges Carpentier will spend several weeks just following the doctor's orders, Francois Descamps, his manager, announced today. The boxer's hand, broken in his battle with the victorious Dempsey last Saturday, probably will take about six weeks to heal, his physician has estimated, and it was not believed the European champion could do any boxing before that time.

This, Descamps said, precluded the possibility of a bout between Carpentier and Tom Gibbons in the big Jersey City arena on Labor Day. Tex Rickard, promoter of the recent encounter, announced last night that he might arrange such an encounter on the date named but had not conferred with any of the officials of the Frenchman's camp. Descamps, however, said he favored the match as soon as Georges' hand is healed and he has had sufficient time to train.

There must be six weeks of rest, Descamps said. "According to the doctor's orders, and then Georges would need about six weeks training for Tom Gibbons or any other opponent."

GIANTS DEFEAT DODGERS TWICE

New York Nationals Hit Robin Pitches Hard for Double Victory Monday

BOSTON BRAVES TAKE TWO FROM THE PHILLIES

Pirates and Cardinals Split Doubleheader

BROOKLYN.—New York took two games from Brooklyn on Monday, 8 to 1 and 7 to 4. The Giants batted Mitchell hard in the morning game, Kelly making two home runs and Young one, while the Supercats could do nothing with Ryan. Smith and Together were unable to stop the Giants in hitting in the afternoon game. Score:

First Game—
New York	8-1
Brooklyn	1-4
Batteries:	Ryan and Snyder; Mitchell and Taylor, Miller.

Second Game—
New York	7-4
Brooklyn	1-4
Batteries:	Douglas and Snyder; Ruether, Smith and Miller.

Braves 6, 3; Phils 4, 2. PHILADELPHIA.—Boston won both the morning and afternoon games of the Independence day doubleheader from Philadelphia. In the morning, Southworth's two home runs were responsible for the 6 to 4 victory, while in the afternoon five errors by the Phillies paved the way for a ten-inning triumph, 3 to 2, by Boston. Score:

First Game—
Boston	6-4
Philadelphia	2-4
Batteries:	Scott, Oescheger and O'Neill; Meadows, Keenan and Bragg.

Second Game—
Boston	3-2
Philadelphia	2-4
Batteries:	Scott and Gibson; Ring and Bragg.

Pirates 3, 2; Cards 2, 6. PITTSBURGH.—Pittsburgh and St. Louis split even in Monday's games, the Pirates winning the morning contest, 5 to 2, and losing in the afternoon, 6 to 3. Glazner's pitching in the morning was effective, while Bailey was hard hit. In the afternoon Cooper was unsteady, and his hit batsman and three passes were followed by long hits. With the exception of the seventh inning, when Pittsburgh bunched two singles and a triple, Perrier was effective. Score:

First Game—
St. Louis	2-6
Pittsburgh	5-2
Batteries:	Meadows and Bailey; Glazner and Schmidt.

Second Game—
St. Louis	6-3
Pittsburgh	2-6
Batteries:	Perrier and Dillhoefer; Cooper and Bratton.

Reds 4, 2; Cubs 2, 6. CHICAGO.—Chicago and Cincinnati divided the holiday but on Monday the visitors taking the morning game, 4 to 2, while the locals won the afternoon contest, 6 to 2. The locals were unable to do much with League in the first game, while the Reds hit Martin opportunely. Branton was hit hard in the afternoon game, while Alexander had little difficulty holding his opponents. Score:

First Game—
Cincinnati	2-6
Chicago	4-2
Batteries:	League and Wingo; Martin and Kilfister.

Second Game—
Cincinnati	2-6
Chicago	4-2
Batteries:	Napier and Hargrave; Alexander and Kilfister.

OPACCOS DEFEAT MONTAGUES MONDAY IN TWELVE INNINGS

The Montague baseball team lost to Onalaska Opaccos Monday afternoon in a twelve inning game by a score of 8 to 7.

Huber, hunter for the normal school for a number of years, pitched for the Montague aggregation up to the sixth inning when he was relieved by Smecov. He garnered a home run off Foss in the sixth frame.

Onalaska scored in the twelfth inning winning the game after two men were out. Thompson was credited with the score on a drive for two bases into left center with one man on base. Feature work with the stick was divided among Thompson, of Onalaska and Lavold and Stellick, of the Montagues.

LA CROSSE BLANKS HOUSTON IN FOURTH OF JULY BATTLE

Krause Makes Initial Appearance on Mound Allowing But Three Scattered Hits

WISCONSIN FOOTBALL STAR MAKES SPECTACULAR CATCH

Davey Picks off High Fly Against the Grand Stands

La Crosse baseball club added another to its rapidly growing list of victories humbling Houston Monday afternoon at Copeland park by a score of 3 to 0.

Krause, making his initial appearance on the mound for the locals, pitched a great game, allowing the visitors but three scattered hits and striking out seven men at the plate. He allowed but two passes. Anderson, pitching for the visitors, was touched up for eight safeties and in addition to hitting one batsman, allowed four men bases.

Davey, star quarterback for the Wisconsin football eleven last year, again made a spectacular showing behind the bat in Monday's game, drawing repeated applause from the stands.

In the fourth inning he nabbed a high foul against the stands which seemed almost impossible. His appearance with the local club has added materially to the strength of the team.

La Crosse started the scoring in the second inning when Krause lead off with a sharp single to right center. He was sacrificed to second and scored on Weigert's single to right.

Weigert went second on the throw in. Shimshak drew a pass as did Johnson. Kabat hit a grounder to third, forcing Weigert out at home and Fuchs hit to short for the third out.

The second score came in the third inning. Weissie flew out to center and Davey was hit by pitched ball. Krause followed with a single to center. Davey stopping at second, Safford fouled out. Weigert drove a liner out to right field which Johnson failed to get under, resulting in a score by Davey.

La Crosse added the third and final score in the seventh inning. Weissie lead off with a single over third. Davey sacrificed Weissie to second and Krause was fielded out by the pitcher. Safford connected with a two base hit to right scoring Weissie. Safford was thrown out when he attempted to make an extra sack on the hit.

Davey's spectacular catch came in the visitors' half of the seventh. Anderson first man up, tipping a high foul which came down against the stands. Davey received enthusiastic applause as the ball landed safely in his mitt. Peterson made a spectacular one-handed catch in left field in the sixth inning on Kabat's drive.

DEMPSEY TO GO WEST AFTER ENJOYING NEW YORK VACATION

NEW YORK.—It is an old tar, the heavyweight championship of the world, but this is the first time Jack Dempsey, its present holder, has had an opportunity to enjoy it.

With the abandon of a schoolboy he is frolicking about New York, vacationing with all the enthusiasm of a youngster with a new pair of boxing gloves.

Since Jack stepped into the ring and took the title from Jess Willard he has been a busy man. There was no time for play in his program, for when he was not engaged in training for a bout to defend his title, he was busy in motion picture or theatrical work.

He intends to lay around New York for a few days and then go west. In Salt Lake City, Utah, his destination, Mrs. Celia Dempsey, his mother, will be waiting for him. Dempsey declared he was anxious to get back to his home, and especially anxious to see his mother.

JANESVILLE, Wis.—What is believed to be a record in baggins was made Monday when the Janesville Tractors played three games in one day in three different towns, twenty miles apart. They defeated the Highway Trailers at Edgerton in the morning, 7 to 4; vanquished the Stoughton team at Evansville in the early afternoon, 7 to 5; and whipped Stoughton at Stoughton later, 7 to 6. Pitcher Lathrop played in all three games, playing third in the first, pitching the second, and covering the victory in the ninth of the last. Lathrop got nine hits in ten times up, one a homer two triples, two doubles and the rest singles.

TEACHERS' PENSION FUND BILL SIGNED BY THE GOVERNOR

Bill Revising Retirement Fund
Becomes Law With Signature Tuesday

MEASURE IS FINANCED BY
INCREASE IN INCOME TAX

Places Teachers' Fund on Sound
Financial Basis

MADISON, Wis.—Governor Blaine Tuesday morning signed the bill revising the teachers' retirement fund law in the state. This places this fund on a sound financial basis. The law is financed by a one-sixth increase on income taxes. This rate will raise approximately a million dollars annually.

Teachers who were under the old retirement fund law have their claims properly protected by the new measure. This bill provides for contributions by teachers on a five per cent basis of their salary. The state also contributes to the fund and the amount of annuity that a teacher will receive upon retirement depends entirely upon the length of teaching service and the amount that she has contributed.

At the present time the old Teachers' retirement fund law had placed the fund in a straitened financial condition. The income tax rates will be sufficient to restore the fund to a stable financial condition.

"There are at present 14,600 teachers," said Charles E. Brooks, actuary, "who are members of the Teachers' Insurance and Retirement Fund, and 345 living annuitants. By the end of forty years, the members who are now reaching will either have left the service of the Wisconsin schools or will have retired upon their annuities. By the end of eighty years from now all of the present teachers, with the possible exception of one or two who live out a century, will have passed away. The annuity payments to be made by the fund to its present members will amount all told to many millions of dollars. These payments will have all been made, and the state wiped clean, by the end of the present century."

The teachers' retirement fund law signed by Governor Blaine had the endorsement of practically all the teachers in the state. This law applies to all teachers outside of Milwaukee county. Milwaukee has a separate retirement fund law. Because the new measure is financed by an income tax it was decided that twenty-five per cent of the revenues collected should be turned in to the Milwaukee retirement fund law and this legislative action will place both of the teachers' retirement funds on a sound financial basis.

The first teachers' retirement fund law was enacted in 1911, but the fund had become so involved that the legislature of 1919 appointed a special committee to investigate the subject. This committee was composed of Senators Kuehnle and Skogmo and Assemblyman Riley S. Young. R. M. Hanson and John D. Williams. The committee found that the present teachers' retirement fund law could not continue to operate unless either new resources were provided or the benefits were reduced. Had the present law not been signed by Governor Blaine, estimates indicated that it would require a reduction of 77 per cent in the benefits to place the fund on an adequate basis. The new law goes into operation at once. With the possible exception of the dry bill in the legislature, more positions were filed in favor of this measure than on any other pending piece of legislation.

REAPPORTIONMENT BILL SIGNED BY BLAINE TUESDAY

Governor Also Approves Bill for Survey of Proposed Site of New Normal School

MADISON, Wis.—Governor Blaine on Tuesday signed the bill reapportioning the state into senate and assembly districts. By this bill Winnebago county will lose an assemblyman and there is a shifting of some of the districts in the center of the state. Milwaukee county becomes a separate senatorial district and Kenosha county gets an additional assemblyman. Winnebago and Calumet counties have been placed in the same senatorial district.

The governor signed the bill appropriating $4,000 for a survey of a proposed normal school site at Rhineland. He signed a bill increasing the age at which boys may be sent to the Waukesha industrial school from 17 to 18 years and authorizing a change in the law so that a person may be declared delinquent up to 21 years.

Governor Blaine has signed the French bill permitting cities to establish auto service.

AHI EPSOM SALTS LIKE LEMONADE NOW

You can now buy epsom salts without the awful taste and nausea, by asking your druggist for a handy package of "Epsomade Salts" which looks and acts exactly like epsom salts, because it is real epsom salts combined with fruit derivative salts, giving it the taste of sparkling lemonade.

Take a tablespoonful in a glass of cold water whenever you feel bilious, headachy or constipated. "Epsomade Salts" is the much talked of discovery of the American Epsom Association.

Moist Warm Air Means Health— and You Get It From the WEIR

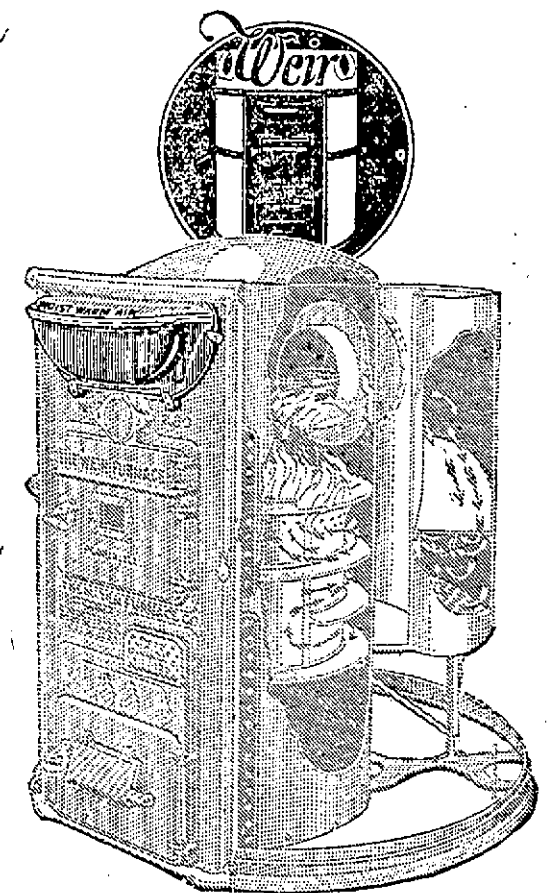

IDEAL heating is possible only when the correct proportion of moisture is in the air in the rooms. No other heating plant is capable of supplying the moisture like a warm air furnace; but the failure of some manufacturers to recognize this has caused many warm air furnaces to be installed with no water pan at all, or in a position where healthful humidity did not result.

Plenty of moisture means health and comfort and is an economy since moist air at 68° is more comfortable than dry air at 72°.

The WEIR water pan is in the right place and positively does the work because it is located at the top—the hottest part of the furnace and therefore at a point where the greatest amount of water will be evaporated.

The MOST warm air—

And MOIST warm air—you get them both in the WEIR.

GIRLS! LEMONS BLEACH THE SKIN

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.
